:Your Requirements

The ability to make up-to-the-minute, informed decisions is directly associated with the availability and quality of information. In most companies, however, information is neither concise nor available at the click of a button. The underlying data has to be assembled from a variety of sources and tailored to the needs of the individual recipients.

The integration of Business Objects functionalities into SAP NetWeaver Business Intelligence (SAP BI) yields valuable synergies for customers.

Work with REALTECH to identify the business solution that will help you achieve optimum business value. This one-day workshop will answer your questions regarding SAP Business Intelligence und Business Objects.

In addition to finding out more about SAP's strategy, license model, and the technological foundations you will be given real-life application examples such as the Management Cockpit.

Its ability to draw on its extensive SAP experience makes REALTECH a much sought-after consulting partner in the field of Business Intelligence.
